INTRODUCTION

Wherein I, Don Quixote, came upon the castle and Court of King Kampusite, governor extraordinary of the Kingdom of George.

I knew not what enchantment had befallen me, for surely I found myself in a strange land of enormous castles, steely sea monsters, and metallic dragons of many colors. Even the atmosphere was not free of strange beings, for winged equestrians of pure silver soared through the air.

"The knight ought to search the remotest corners of the world assailing impossibilities," quoth I to my faithful squire, Sancho Panza. Let us then proceed to yon citadel. Surely this land must embrace adventures and abound in circumstances worthy of the attention of a knight-errant.

Ever since I sallied forth to honor the peerless Dulciana del Toboso by reviving the long neglected and almost extinguished order of knight-errantry, I have never failed to encounter adventure.

We came upon a traveler who informed us that in the buildings just ahead could be found gentlemen of incredible sagacity. "By investigating the government, society, the learned brotherhoods and the fraternal orders of the land of King Kampusite, you might acquire the knowledge of the ages," said he. "And one thing more, every knight of this kingdom doth deem it an honor to be called George while any damsel is flattered by the appellation of Martha. No flattery can be more potent than this simple device. By it you will learn much."

"Can we find therein a bachelor of arts?" asked Sancho.

"Not only bachelors in abundance, but masters and doctors, too."

"Then we shall discover the truth, for I have heard it said that a bachelor of arts cannot lie unless he have a mind to do so or when he may turn it to good account."

So we spurred our mounts in order to enter in state the domain of King Kampusite.

DEDICATION

It is with deep appreciation that we dedicate THE 1950 CHERRY TREE to General Ulysses S. Grant, 3rd. His tireless efforts towards the development and expansion of the University through the program of building projects have won the respect of the entire student body. But most of all, we thank him for his sympathy and interest towards THE CHERRY TREE, which have done so much to make this record possible.

General Ulysses S. Grant, 3rd
Vice President of the University

ADMINISTRATION

"Many times did he fall at variance with the curate of his village (who was a learned man, graduated in Siguenza) touching who was the better knight, Palermin of England or Amadis de Gaul."

MEMENTOS

"His fantasie was filled with those things that he read, of enchantments, quarrels, battles, challenges, wounds, wooings, loves, tempests, and other impossible follies."

FALL

In which is contained the explorations of Sancho Panza and Don Quixote.

With Sancho and Rozinante, my trusty steed, I crossed a moat to enter the grounds of the court of King Kampusite. We beheld knights and ladies lined up back to back obviously enchanted, for they talked of scheduled classes rather than valiant deeds.

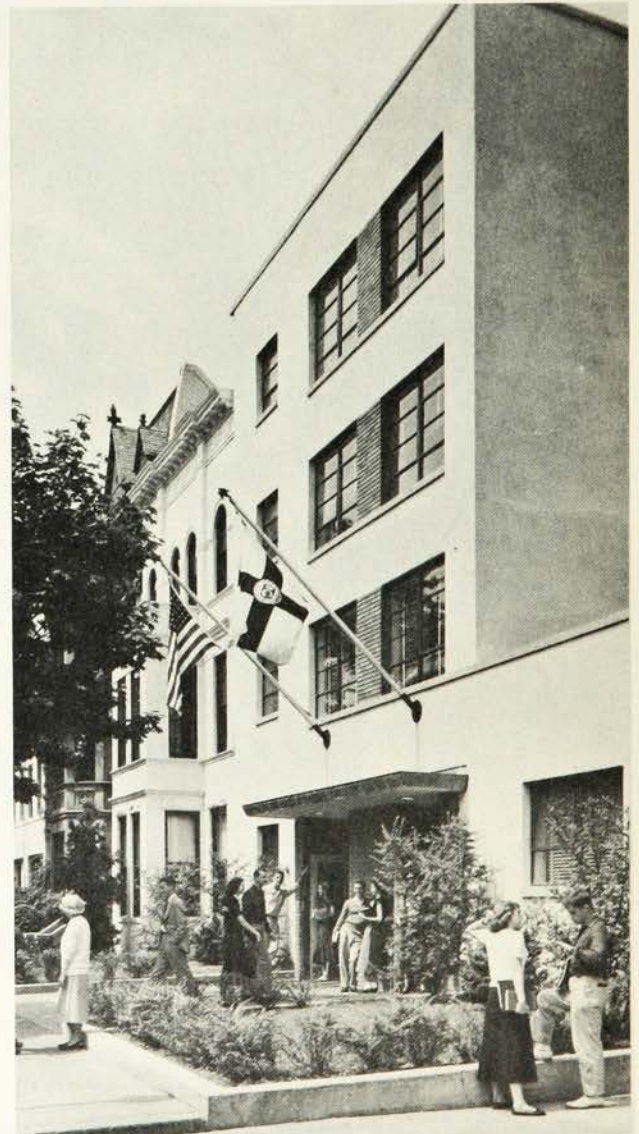

Dueñas instructed their charges over coffee in Strong Hall. Damsels and lads listened while a sagacious cavalier oriented them to their new abode.

Adventures galore were to be added to the annals of chivalry for during the coming three months many would pledge themselves to knighthood or join the ladies fair 'neath armorial bearings.

In a homecoming celebration, sportsmen triumphant brought the fruits of victory after having vanquished Lafayette College. Aroused by the fervour of gamboling nymphs in buff and blue garb the students succumbed to a spell of enchantment. They danced, paraded, and crowned a queen.

A Shah of the distant kingdom of Iran witnessed their triumph over Georgetown U.

An event called by the wondrous title, Hillel Ball o' Fire, served as a polar star to glorious adventure.

WINTER

In which is contained the further explorations of Sancho Panza and Don Quixote.

Entering an enormous hall called Lisner, we heard Sir Latimer say, "Here we have the problem of separating the sheep from the goats . . ." The enchanter surely had him in his grasp for we saw only damsels who presented sixty thousand novelties and rare humor.

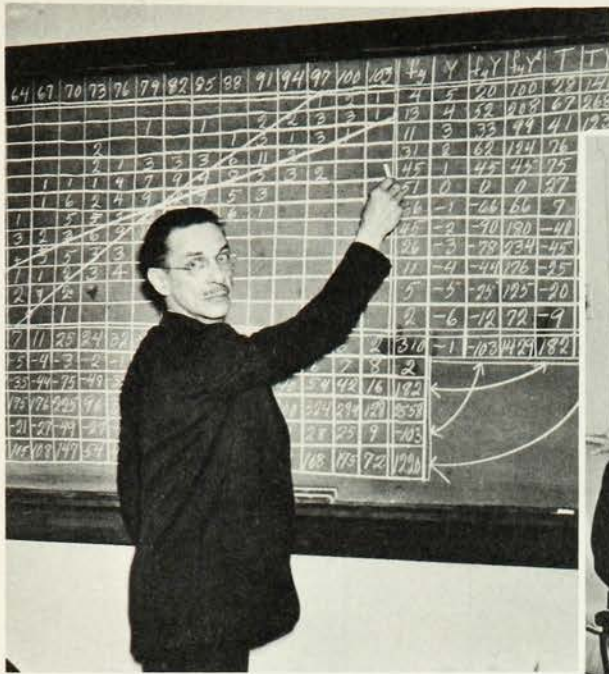

Many are the diversions set forth here. Galleys, contending for the honor of the court, outdistanced all rivals to win the sailing regatta providing an occasion to be celebrated by the Frostbite Ball. Numerous Christmas dances; "The Yellow Jacket," a colorful oriental play depicting gallant deeds and affairs of great kingdoms; the Bal Boheme; the Messiah by the Glee Club and the U. S. Air Force Orchestra; another play, "Noah," depicting world-shaking events of ages past; the entertainment of orphans; a festival for squires and young damsels all contributed to the sumptuous merrymaking in which are engaged the society of the Kingdom George.

Not all can be pleasure, for some men spend much time examining things which when well known are not worth recollecting. This differs strangely from the usual visions of enchanted knights.

SPRING

In which is concluded the adventure in the Kingdom of George and other matters worthy to be read.

As players are merry folk everybody favors them and is ready to stand their friends. So must have run the thoughts of ladies and gentlemen of this realm for enmasse they took to the stage. Knights as well as damsels sprinkled the atmosphere with melodies as they contended for the laurels of songsters. Dancers performed such gambols on Lisner stage that they seemed enchanted nymphs straight from Merlin's wand.

A Glee Club rivaled the bards of old, and players put forth great effort to produce.

In May a queen was chosen to reign as sovereign beauty. I did not go too near for it has been my experience that queens become enamored on beholding my person and I must remain true to Dulciana. Sancho says that there was a festival with booths of unspeakable rarity, and men were awarded the honors of the kingdom.

Hospitality of knighthood flowed in abundance during Greek Week.

Scholars donned caps and gowns to pass from this kingdom in commendation and glory. "These days soon vanish into nought, and have not being but in thought," quoth I.

HONORARIES

"This gentleman, the spurts that he was idle, which was the longer part of the year, did apply himself wholly to the gathering of honors in knighthood, and that with such gusts and delights, as he almost wholly neglected the exercise of hunting."

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Albert Dugoff

Adeline Andrews

Here I saw a court of King Kampusite, and within, the famous twenty-nine who had been chosen to represent this manor in the annual publication, Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Chosen on a basis of character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities and potential usefulness to business and society, the students were selected by a combined student and faculty board. The publication represents outstanding students from more than 600 universities and colleges in the United States. The names of the students selected are published in the HATCHET in December, and they are presented with certificates at the annual May Day Awards Assembly. This year 28 of the students so honored were seniors and one a junior, two of this year's selections having been included also in last year's book.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

In the year of our Lord 1914, the second of December, an order of knights-templar was formed. This order has extended in ever widening circles, encompassing the leaders of knights and men at sixty college and university campuses through the land.

ODK's purpose is three-fold: first, to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities and to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainments along similar lines; second, to bring together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life and thus to create an organization which will help mould the sentiment of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate interest; third, to bring together members of the faculty and student body of the institution on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

Tapping new members twice a year, at the Homecoming Dance and at the Interfraternity Sing, Alpha Delta Circle of ODK requires a scholastic standing in the upper third of the class and outstanding participation in at least two of the following fields: religion, society, athletics, publications, music, debate, and dramatics.

MORTAR BOARD

These ladies of the ivory tower, having ascended the steps by outstanding scholarship, leadership, and service to the university, kept themselves busy by enlarging on their accomplishments.

The main project for the eight members of the Hour Glass Chapter in 1949-50 was a series of lectures on the topic, "A Collegian Looks at the Modern World." These lectures covered the fields of contemporary literature, art, science, politics, sports, and psychology. Many other projects were planned and carried out during the year.

During orientation the members of Mortar Board manned an information booth during registration, participated in the Big Sis "Tips and Tea with Top Notchers," and conducted a panel discussion on "How to Get Started at G. W. and Keep Going." During Homecoming the girls gave a Coffee Hour for Mortar Board Alums and sold Chrysanthemums before the game. Just before Christmas, the junior and senior women with averages of 3.0 and above were honored at a "Smarty Party." Among other activities were silver studies, a Founder's Day Conference, and the tapping of new members at the annual May Day Awards Assembly.

Tassels members meeting in Strong Hall.

TASSELS

Maidens young and fair, aspirants to the ivory tower, were clustered on the first step of the turret. They informed me that having attained an average of 2.5 and participated in two activities they had been chosen by Mortar Board to wear the golden tassel.

Probationary members who lack activities are selected on the basis of 3.0 or better. In order to be initiated in February both active and probationary Tassels members must maintain a 2.5 average throughout the first semester of their sophomore year, work a minimum of two hours a week on the Tassels project, and participate in at least two regular campus activities.

This year Tassels sponsored two projects. One group of members created a working file on the activities of all freshman and sophomore women. This file is available for student and faculty use and is located in the student activities office. The second group worked in the records department of the George Washington University Hospital, doing filing and typing after spending a short period of training under hospital instructors.

GATE AND KEY

These squires have as a result of their valiant deeds been acquainted with the portal and given the key to the highest order of chivalry. It must certainly be confessed that great and wonderful are the occurrences which befall those who profess knight-errantry.

Founded at The George Washington University on November 1, 1922, the Gate and Key Society established its Beta Chapter at the University of Maryland this past winter.

By nature, the Society is honorary-social. Its purpose is to bring together the men of the social organizations of the University who have rendered outstanding service to their organizations and to the school, and to promote through their association the interests of the fraternity system and the University.

Members are chosen twice a year — in the fall and in the spring with the spring tapping being held at the Interfraternity Prom. Meetings are held regularly once a month; and, in addition, the Society holds three social functions a year. Preparing a Christmas party for orphans is the Society's annual Christmas service.

DELPHI

. I met liege ladies, the paragons of maidenhood, elected by their orders to hold the splendorous title, members of Delphi.

Delphi is an honorary organization aiming to honor those women who have made an outstanding contribution to their own sororities and to the panhellenic world. Formed in 1930, Delphi works to promote intersorority spirit and to increase the social life among the women's Greek-letter organizations.

As their major project of the fall semester, the members of Delphi were active in an attempt to bring together all girls who are members of panhellenic sororities not represented on the campus, holding several teas in their honor.

During the spring, the members of Delphi executed a successful reorganization of the honorary. Members are now chosen by Delphi itself upon nomination by the individual sororities, and membership has been increased to three members from each sorority. In future years, Delphi also plans to include some form of service to the University among its annual projects. At the annual tapping of new members at the Panhellenic Sing, the outgoing members could look back on a very successful year.

SIGMA TAU

Passing through the meadow G, I encountered a knight with his war colors flying high, lance and shield ready to do battle. Never will Don Quixote shirk a joust. He proved a feeble fighter with dulled lance and brittle shield and I knocked him to the ground. At that moment Sancho cried, "Oh master, he is no warrior, but a Sigma Tau with slide rule and notebook!" When the lad picked himself up he related that Sigma Tau is a national engineering brotherhood founded at Nebraska in 1904 to further achievement in engineering.

After considering the qualities possessed by successful engineers, they found that the qualifications of scholarship, practicality, and sociability formed a basis for selecting students who give promise of attaining a successful career.

To aid the field of education, XI chapter bestows a medal, at the end of the school term, upon the student who has attained the highest grades in his freshman year in engineering courses. Also, XI chapter maintains a free tutoring service for the benefit of those students in need of assistance in their studies.

Meeting two Wednesdays each month, XI chapter also finds time to have two parties a year and traditional banquets following initiations.

PI DELTA EPSILON

Every knight who wishes to gain fame and fair name must carry with him an historian. Methinks a scribe of the famous order of Pi Delta Epsilon would do well should he choose to link his name with mine in the quest of fame and fortune.

Pi Delta Epsilon endeavors to help the University publications solve their problems by providing a common meeting ground for outstanding members of student publications. Membership in the organization is selected from students on the basis of achievement and integrity in the field of publications.

Membership is derived from THE HATCHET, THE CHERRY TREE, AND MECHELECIV.

In addition to the officers and new initiates, PiDE members are Don Sparks (Treasurer), Julian Singman, Hal Hart, Janet Wildman, Louise Odineal, Jake Bayer, Bob Dentz, John Donaldson, Peter Martin, Leigh Curry.

PHI DELTA GAMMA

These ladies had attained the goal for which they had striven four years. But lo they have come back to their books to reach still higher with the Beta Chapter of Phi Delta Gamma.

The purpose of the organization is two-fold: to promote the highest professional ideals among women in the graduate schools, and to advance the social welfare and activities of these women. Membership is open to women of all professional interests who are studying in the graduate schools or advanced professional schools. Business and cultural meetings are held once a month, with programs planned in advance around the theme for the year, "Current American Problems."

Two members of Beta Chapter are officers in the national organization. Vera Mowry, local extension chairman, is the editor of the PHI DELTA GAMMA JOURNAL, a professional magazine with articles written by members on various subjects of interest to graduate women. Grace Wilson, Beta's national council representative, is the national secretary.

ALPHA PI EPSILON

I beheld the damsels who had reached the inner circle of highest achievement. They are the grand keepers of the key to domestic happiness. We found them fair and well-versed in culinary art.

Proposing to promote interest in Home Economics at George Washington, establish high scholarship standards and to promote the social and professional welfare of its members, this organization has worked hard this year to fulfill its aims. Last June they went to the DuPont factory at Wilmington, Delaware. Seeing the making of many of the products which they will use in their careers was a memorable experience.

They have held social events such as the Christmas party to which each member brought a gift for crippled children, and the lovely banquet on January 6th to commemorate Founder's Day.

Rush teas were held in the fall and spring. These are sponsored jointly by Alpha Pi Epsilon and the Home Economics Club. From those attending are selected the girls who have attained the high scholastic average necessary and who have met the other requirements for membership in this organization.

The members of Pi Lambda Theta meet at the home of a member.

PI LAMBDA THETA

Worthy books and distribution of the lustrous fruit of knowledge occupied these ladies. When with Sancho I came upon them they were deep in conference, planning to uphold standards in scholarship and apply principles of democratic education to local, national and internal problems.

This year, the national theme was "The Teacher in the Next Decade," and the Alpha Theta Chapter had several outstanding lecturers at their meetings to speak on subjects of that theme. Also, as an annual event there was a special memorial lecture in honor of the late Dr. William Carl Ruediger, former Dean of the School of Education.

Other outstanding activities included the Annual Open House in November at Lisner Auditorium in co-sponsorship with several other organizations of the School of Education. The Open House was attended by outstanding educators of the District of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland. A Tea was given for the education students, CARE packages were sent to needy teachers in other countries, and films were added to the Audio-Visual Aid Department of the School of Education.

DELTA SIGMA RHO

Glorious champions of justice are the members of Delta Sigma Rho. In arguing for the return of chivalry they must believe the old adage, "If the abbot talks well the novice comes not far behind him," for they are eloquent indeed.

Delta Sigma Rho is a national honorary which recognizes the most outstanding collegiate debaters. The members, including both men and women, are selected on a basis of achievement in intercollegiate debate competition. Members are tapped and initiated in the spring of each college year.

Our adventures took us before the brighter ladies of Christendom, those who have attained a 3.5 average for the work of the first two semesters.

Alpha Lambda Delta is the national freshman women's scholastic honorary. This organization combines service with scholarship. Continued this year was the tutoring service established in 1948-49. Together with Phi Eta Sigma, it sponsored a buffet supper for the new high school scholarship winners, with Dr. Jarman as the guest speaker. To encourage women to attain their requirements, the honorary offers guidance in studying and adjustment to school life.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

KAPPA KAPPA PSI

Bards and minstrels of the highest order flocked around us to play and sing of deeds of chivalry and illustrious exploits of their order, Kappa Kappa Psi.

Alpha Kappa Chapter on this campus, founded in order to promote interest in the University Band, awards membership to outstanding bandmen. This chapter functions to aid the University Band in activities and programs, and each year the fraternity presents a cup for outstanding achievement to an individual bandsman. Last year the cup was awarded to Dolores Hastings, past president of the band.

Sages seeking to gain renown for knowledge and exercise of the intellect are to be found in the order of Alpha Theta Nu.

A scholarship holders' service organization, Alpha Theta Nu initiated 18 members in candlelight ceremonies last fall. Its purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the George Washington University high standards of scholarship, fellowship, character, achievement, integrity, and loyalty.

As one project this past year, Alpha Theta Nu set up a file of the advisers of all schools of The University.

ALPHA THETA NU

PSI CHI

Psi Chi members gather in Columbian House.

What prowess lurks behind those brows. Even brave knights could not approach such learning. By heresay we have discovered that Psi Chi is an honorary and professional society for psychology students. Their purpose is to stimulate interest and participation in research in psychology.

The organization lends financial and personal assistance in carrying out psychological projects. In addition to its scheduled business and program meetings, Psi Chi participates in social activities, as a square dance given in the fall, and sponsors an annual initiation and banquet attended by national leaders in psychology.

I have heard it said that there are two roads by which men may obtain riches and honor: one by letters, the other by arms. At a meeting of Phi Delta Kappa I encountered men whose lot fell with the former. I found them enobled knights.

Phi Delta Kappa is a national honorary education fraternity aiming to promote free public education through application of the ideals of research, scholarship, and leadership. Members are elected on a basis of scholarship, leadership, and contributions to their field.

PHI DELTA KAPPA

IOTA SIGMA PI

Iota Sigma Pi members pose in a classroom.

In this strange land even ladies fair have their orders for furthering alchemy!

Meetings are held once a month with guest speakers who talk on current subjects in chemistry. Members also frequently discuss their own research problems. In the fall, highlighting the social activity for the year, is the lab-supper, held in one of the labs with chemical utensils as dishes. Membership in Iota Sigma Pi requires a B average for 20 hours of chemistry and an overall B average for undergraduates.

Herein is contained the pleasant adventures of Pi Gamma Mu with sundry other matters all sufficiently good to be worthy of these savants of society.

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary society, annually elects students in recognition of outstanding work in history, political science, economics, and composite fields. The particular purpose of the society is to send out from colleges and universities young men and women trained in scientific thought and imbued with social idealism.

GOVERNING BOARDS

"And Sancho Panza, seeing the opportunity good, said to his master, 'I pray you, good sir knight, that you forget not that government of the island which you have promised me, for I shall be able to govern it were it never so great.'"

Ten peers of the court of King Kampusite did greet me as I entered the castle. I perceived that they were grandees of the most majestic gentility. They were engaged in affairs of extraordinary import, of which they related to me when they heard of my knighthood and great expectations.

With the final dying down of electioneering and energetic campaigning, the Student Council of 1949-50 took office and soon started work. Under the able leadership of President Charles Crichton, the various members of the council were soon well-oriented in their jobs of coordinating the various phases of campus activity in order to give all students a chance to participate fully in college life.

One of the major jobs of the year was the settling of all problems arising from the operation of the newly opened Student Union building. The Student Union Committee, headed by Program Chairman Lenny Grant, spent a busy season discussing menus, cafeteria space, and disappearing radios, and working endlessly towards the smooth running of the building.

Other major projects of the year included the supervision of class elections in the fall, a revision of the constitution, and the sponsoring of the Colonial Program series, which included productions of THE MESSIAH at Christmastime and IOLANTHE in the spring.

The flower of knighthood came into its glory with the envoys here assembled to further the cause of knight-errantry. Infinitely did I laud them for their purpose.

G. W. fraternity men were hosts for the National Interfraternity Council convention during the Thanksgiving weekend. The session featured panel discussions, round table discussions, and was climaxed by the annual dinner and fraternity ball.

Throughout the year, the Council carried on its usual duties: a rush program in the fall, beginning with the IFC Smoker; the annual Christmas party for orphans; the Third Annual IFC Greek Week, in which were held forums; the IFC Sing, and numerous parties; the IFC Prom in the late spring; and the IFC athletic program.

Discussions centered around scholarship improvement and deferred rushing.

Here in a vaulted room of the palatial castle I met the fair ladies of the All-Hellenic legation. They were engaged in discussion and other lady-like activities.

The Panhellenic Council, composed of a delegate from each of the sororities on campus with the president attending each meeting in an advisory capacity, works to promote intersorority spirit among the various women's Greek letter organizations, as well as to coordinate sorority activities into a well balanced program.

The organization of rushing started off the year for the Panhellenic Council, with the establishment of the Junior Panhellenic Council as the next step. The spring semester was mainly taken up with the Panhellenic Prom and the Panhellenic Sing, major events in the school year.

Acting always as the legislative and judiciary body for the sororities represented at the University, the Panhellenic Council spent a busy year through 1949-50.

Secretary.....	Ramona Samples
Treasurer.....	Robert F. Merrell

Sancho and I met a group of knights who profess what I profess, that by the exercise of arms they might gain heaven. The only difference was that they chose to fight after the heavenly manner.

The Religious Council has sponsored an ambitious program of weekly chapel services and luncheons for the entire student body, timely lectures by well-known clergymen, and numerous forums and panel discussions. It is to the attainment of this purpose — to integrate the member groups and to facilitate the growth of fellowship and religious unity — that the Religious Council has devoted its year's activity.

Outstanding in the program of events was the Religious Week activities in the spring. At this time speakers representing all denominations addressed students in Lisner and later in smaller gatherings.

 Vice President.....John McPhail
 Treasurer.....John Wagner

Master builders of fortifications, castles, and cathedrals send envoys to the august court of King Kampusite. As befits their rank, they are received with regal tribute.

The Engineers' Council, composed of representatives from all the various engineering societies and fraternities, acts as a coordinating body to further cooperation among its member organizations and to promote fellowship among the students of the School of Engineering.

Major activities during the year include the Engineers' Ball, the Engineers' Banquet, the annual lighting of the Christmas Tree, and the sponsorship of MECHLECIV, the engineering publication. The Council also sponsored joint meetings of the engineering societies and mixer meetings for new students.

Meeting the second Thursday of each month, the Council is composed of representatives from I.R.E., A.S.C.E., A.S.M.E., A.I.E.E., Theta Tau and Sigma Tau.

These women cannot joust. Therefore, I conclude that this must be a group of ladies who frequent the lists to encourage their valiant knights.

Highlights of the year were the many sports' days with neighboring colleges, our inter-class competitions, and the women's varsity tournaments. In the social line W.R.A. held its first dance on November 18 and sponsored several square dances during the year. December 12 marked the end of the fall sports season for W.R.A. when it held the semi-annual Awards Tea, at which the season's champions received their keys, letters and cups. The tennis cup and golf cup went to Jane Pyle. Helen Joy was the recipient of the archery cup and a major letter.

They began the year with a grand turnout for golf, tennis, hockey, basketball, archery, swimming and rifle.

Through an active publicity drive led by Audrey Rands, W.R.A. publicity chairman, and through the increased general interest of women students, women's sports have become an integral part of campus life.

STUDENT LIFE COMMITTEE

There are eleven Worthies at such an exalted station that even such a knight as I did not try to gain an audience.

The Student Life Committee, a combined faculty-student board, serves as the judiciary element in the organization of student activities. The two-fold purpose of the Committee is, first of all, to approve and recognize new organizations, and secondly, to see that all campus activities maintain themselves according to the principles of the University and of their constitutions. Thus the Committee exerts a supervisory check on all phases of campus life.

INTERSORORITY ATHLETIC BOARD

The fair envoys to the tourney gathered to distribute garlands and cups to the deserving with unmitigated adherence to the laws of chivalry.

The aim of the Intersorority Athletic Board is to foster good intersorority spirit as well as interest in athletics. Monthly throughout the year tournaments were sponsored, including volleyball, bridge, table tennis, bowling, badminton, and swimming. Small individual cups were awarded to the winners of each tournament, while the sorority winning the largest number of points during the year was awarded a large rotating cup.

INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE COUNCIL

These squires are embarking on a voyage of unparalleled joy, dancing and singing their way through the domain of King Kampusite.

The major project of the year for the Interfraternity Pledge Council was the entertainment of themselves and all sorority pledges at a sensational party held in January at the Kappa Sig House. Throughout the rest of the year the group worked to promote friendship and cooperation among the campus fraternities.

JUNIOR PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

"They have talked till their tongues cleave to the rooves of their mouths," said Sancho as we gazed through the portals into the hall wherein met the damsels of the Junior Panhellenic Council. Surely they decide momentous issues of the day.

Junior Panhel works to coordinate pledge activities and to insure intersorority unity among the future actives. The major project of the year was the Goat Show, each group performing before a packed house in Lisner Auditorium.

PUBLICATIONS

"For the smoothness of his prose, with now and then some intricate sentence meddled, seemed to him peerless . . . 'The reason of the unreasonableness which against my reason is wrought, doth so weaken my reason, as with all reason do I justly complain on your beauty.'"

HATCHET

While passing through the main hall of the castle I stumbled over a bundle of papers. Thinking this must be one of my long lost volumes of chivalry I fell on my knees to examine it. In huge letters was inscribed H-A-T-C-H-E-T. Here were the curious adventures of the knight of Hatchet, unfortunately written in a foreign tongue, but such a story breaks through such a barrier and emblazons itself on the mind of the reader.

The Hatchet office, located on the first floor of the student activities building, is a scene of never ending confusion. Harried editors, bewildered junior reporters, frantic re-write men, and a never ending flood of meetings, dances, plays, gossip, and news all clamor for attention and for space. When the HATCHET hits the street on Tuesday evening, all is quiet, but the clatter and clamor is soon revived, along with the editors, as next week's issue gets underway.

THE 1950 CHERRY TREE

This must be a wondrous book of chivalry. Though my eyes aren't good, I can discern the letters C-H-E-R-R-Y-T-R-E-E. That can only mean that this is the history of the renowned knight, Sir Retree. Yes, inside the covers are pictures of knights-errant and tales of wondrous adventure.

Slipping away from the "Poor Richard" style of the 1949 CHERRY TREE (which was awarded First Class Honors by National Scholastic Press Association), this year's annual has been developed through the travels of Don Quixote and his squire Sancho Panza.

In an attempt to provide a balanced budget and yet not diminish the quality of the book, the 1950 CHERRY TREE has been completely printed by the photo offset process.

The Don Quixote passages were written by Natalie Farwell.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON LAW REVIEW

Opening the cover of a manuscript which fairly rang with the clash of lance and cudgel, I devoured its contents with rapture. It was in English, a tongue which I do not readily comprehend, but with such a title as "The Lore of Chivalry" it must contain true literature.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON LAW REVIEW is published quarterly. The most important types of articles carried by THE LAW REVIEW are reviews of recent cases in the Supreme Court and other federal courts, and discussions of current legal problems.

Chuck Plyer edited the magazine while Bill Seabrooke served as business manager.

These people do truly appreciate the glorious doings of the knights of old. They write a quarterly manuscript which is a Mirror of Chivalry.

The purpose of THE COLONIAL REVIEW is to fill the need for a literary magazine on the campus of The George Washington University. It has provided an outlet for creative writing in the fields of fiction, poetry, and essay.

The REVIEW owes its existence to the interest of a number of students whose financial contributions made this publication possible.

THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

During 1949-50, the University Players treated campus and Washington audiences to three major productions. Working under the direction of William Vorenberg, Edward Mangum, and Andrew Nilles, their major plan for the year was the creation of a laboratory for learning the use of costumes, makeup, and stage setting.

To open the season, a novel and romantic drama was presented. Titled "THE YELLOW JACKET," the vehicle was scored as a critical success. The imaginative setting and colorful costumes were excellently done, scoring a separate hit of their own.

Featured were John Green as the Chorus, and Charles Vorbach as the supposedly invisible property man, yet with highly visible talent for polished comedy. The convincing hero and the petite and pretty heroine were James Rodomski and Betty Browder.

The Players next produced "Noah" by Andre Obey. This modern version of the Biblical flood was directed by Edward Mangum. Presented in March, it was a special feature of the "Religion in Life" week. The last production for this year was "THE WARRIOR'S HUSBAND" by Julian Thompson. The play concerned a war between Greeks and Amazons, and was directed by Andrew Nilles.

Hoping for MESSIAH tickets.

The Glee Clubs, under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, this year presented two major concerts. The first were two evening Christmas Concerts given in conjunction with Army Air Force Orchestra. Handel's "Messiah" was the featured work of the evening. The program was broadcast over the ABC national network. The second, the annual spring concert and dance, was held in May.

The Men's Glee Club also participated in the first annual Glee Club Jamboree at Constitution Hall in December. Five other outstanding male choruses were also represented, the combined group rendering several numbers in addition to the individual club selections. The group also presented several concerts at the local junior colleges for girls.

At the end of the year, the three-year keys were presented to those who were eligible. The Glee Clubs also sponsor social activities including several parties held throughout the year.

PRODUCTION GROUPS

The Dance Production Groups aim to further dance as an art form by giving students the opportunity to work in techniques and composition, promoting concerts by dance artists, and collaborating with other University groups in various productions. Highlighting a busy season of performances was the Modern Dance Concert in Lisner Auditorium on March 17. Other activities included the showing of a dance film, "Mark Ryder, American Dancer," an Exhibit of Dance Photographs, and performances at four of the local high schools. Jose Limon, noted artist in dance, was presented with his group in a concert at Lisner Auditorium, November 30. Preceding the concert, Mr. Limon taught a Master Lesson to the Dance Production Groups. During religious emphasis week the Dance Groups collaborated with the G. W. Players in "Noah." A full year of new compositions, rehearsals, and performances reflects the growing interest in dance at the University.

SQUARE DANCE—FOLK DANCE

The monthly square dances and folk dances sponsored by the Modern Dance Production Groups are highlights on the calendar for the many students and faculty members who like to circle left and promenade their gals. Bob Daniels and his Reveleers furnish oldtime swinging music for the square dances held the second Thursday of every month. Folk dancing on the third Tuesday of the month is under the direction of Tom Pence. Music is furnished by records from the Michael Herman Folk Dance Series.

COLONIAL BOOSTERS

OFFICERS

Chairman.....	Bill Benson
Secretaries .....	Virginia Ford Barbara Gallagher
Treasurer .....	Dwight Worden

In the second year of its existence, Colonial Boosters became more firmly established as one of the major organizations on campus. Aiming to insure its members better seats at all home football games, Boosters also works to provide better half-time entertainment. With membership nearing the one thousand mark, it is one of the largest pep organizations in the country, and gives many services to its members.

The Executive Committee is composed of representatives from the leading organizations on campus, including the Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic, the Independent Students Association, ODK, Mortar Board, and the Engineers' Council. Furthermore, those students who have worked hard on committee positions throughout the year may be elected to the Executive Committee, and are also eligible for office.

Plans for the winter and spring have included a dance in honor of the football team, held in January, entertainment in the spring for visiting athletes, and arrangements for some of the cheerleaders to attend Southern Conference "away" games.

OFFICERS

President.....	Arthur Featherstonaugh
Vice President.....	Howard Stambler
Secretary.....	Robert Morrison
Business Manager .....	James Roamer

The aim of the University Band is to serve the student body by providing a musical background for school functions. Thus the band is always on hand to assist in student productions, as well as playing at most sporting events. Furthermore, two concerts a year are presented by the Band.

Playing at all home football games this year, the Band also travelled to Virginia to cheer on the Colonials at that unfortunate game and played a vital part in pep and victory rallies. During the winter the Band lent its support to major basketball games, especially the Saturday night double-headers.

Under the capable direction of Leon Brusiloff, the members of the Band are working hard to develop interest among students in their organization. Of major importance in school activity, the Band can be counted on to add that extra spark to University functions.

Club members competed in regattas at the Annapolis Tercentennial, Annapolis Yacht Club, and the Naval Gun Factory Sesquicentennial, where they sailed luminous decorated boats in time to music. The climax of the summer was the President's Cup Regatta. More than 1,400 men races determined the summer Intramural Championship.

Again G. W., Maryland, and Georgetown sponsored the Potomac Frostbite Regatta, climax of the fall racing season for the favored colleges surviving rigorous elimination. Truly, frostbite sailing, banquet, and dance provided a memorable weekend. P. S. We Won!

OQUASSA

Oquassa members began their months of tedious conditioning late in October and by April had molded together another successful show. Featured in the program were numbers ranging from duet sequences to complete membership participation.

For the second successive year Oquassa has had male swimmers in the group. They have participated in the rhythm swimming and have also provided entertaining comical sequences.

Practice sessions were held twice a week at the Y.W.C.A. In addition to the double performance of the show in April, several demonstrations and exhibitions were given during the year by Oquassa members.

Miss Virginia Dennis of the Women's Physical Education Department acted as adviser.

The purpose of Big Sisters is to help all women students new to the University become acquainted with the various phases of campus activity. At the beginning of each semester, therefore, Big Sis plans an extensive program of social functions to orient freshmen and transfer women to University life.

Membership is open to all women students who have participated in at least two activities during the past year, and the officers are chosen by Mortar Board, which also passes on the qualifications of each candidate.

On the first day of registration Big Sis held a coffee hour where the members contacted their little sisters and assisted them in registering. "Tips and Tea with Top-notchers" was held the following week, where representatives from campus organizations spoke about the functions of the various activities. Later that week, at a "Nosebag" lunch, Big Sis presented Mortar Board's panel discussion on "How to get Started at G. W. and Keep Going." At the opening of the second semester, Big Sis held an informal evening get-together the day before registration.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA

Alpha Chi Sigma is a national professional chemistry fraternity founded at George Washington University in 1928. It provides the advantages of a fraternal affiliation, and offers the companionship of men who have chosen the same profession for their life work. Therefore, it provides a life-long association with men who are engaged in the same field of endeavor . . . chemistry.

Several prizes are awarded each year. Among them are a Handbook of Chemistry and Physics presented to the three students attaining the highest averages as freshmen; to the student with the highest quality point index in courses of chemistry goes a bronze plaque with his name and year of graduation engraved upon it. Also, the fraternity made an award to the student in a District of Columbia high school with the highest grades who showed the most promise in some field of chemistry.

Among the activities of the year were several parties, a Christmas dance, a picnic for members and relatives, and a Farewell Banquet at the end of a year full of accomplishment.

PHI PI EPSILON

Alpha Chapter of Phi Pi Epsilon was founded at The George Washington University in 1931. It fulfilled the increasing demand for a fraternal organization to foster and sustain an interest in international affairs among university women. Selecting members from women students in the fields of foreign affairs, history, economics, and political science, Phi Pi Epsilon sponsors a wide variety of informative programs. The sorority aims not only to provide means for studying current developments in foreign affairs but also to aid its members in finding opportunities for careers in the foreign service and related fields.

Delta Phi Epsilon was founded to provide for those male students interested in international affairs an opportunity to broaden their appreciation of this field through association with fellow students having similar interests. For this purpose, the fraternity sponsors meetings at which speakers prominent in national and international affairs address members and guests on various aspects of international relations.

In choosing new members, the fraternity is governed by the interest in international affairs shown by the individual, his scholastic achievement, and the rule that a minimum of forty-five credit hours must have been completed, of which a minimum of one semester must have been taken at this University.

The highlight of the year was the cocktail party honoring Dean Arthur Burns, national president of Delta Phi Epsilon, on his promotion to Dean of the School of Government of The George Washington University. Other major events of the year included the Christmas party and the Thirtieth Anniversary Founders Day Banquet. Outstanding speakers have included Eleanor Lansing Dulles, Dr. Karl Anderson, Lars H. Bengston, and George Follebouckt.

PHI DELTA PHI

During the fall and winter semesters, John Marshall Inn of Phi Delta Phi, the oldest legal fraternity in existence, held meetings to hear prominent attorneys speak on legal problems that materially aided in the education of the members of the organization. International in scope, the fraternity has worked on the legal profession for the advancement of high scholarship, opposition to corrupt practices, and a rigid adherence to a code of professional ethics. The society was founded at the University of Michigan in 1869, and the local chapter was established in 1884. The organization now includes some 67 chapters in the United States, and the membership is approximately 38,000. The fraternity puts out a publication, THE BRIEF, for the benefit of its members.

Theta Tau is a professional engineering fraternity that aims to develop strong professional interest among its members and thus to unite them fraternally. Chosen on an activity rather than a scholarship basis, the members of Theta Tau hold various social functions throughout the year. Two formal dinner dances as well as various informal parties, both stag and drag, round out a busy social season.

The oldest engineering fraternity, Theta Tau was established on campus in 1935. Each year the fraternity makes an Activities Award to that student who has done the most for the School of Engineering during his entire attendance. Thus by recognizing ability, sociability, and activity in the School of Engineering projects and activities, Theta Tau aims to help engineering students maintain a well rounded program of studies, activities, and close contact with the engineering world.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

The George Washington University Chapter, American Society of Civil Engineers, is a student chapter of the oldest national professional engineering society. Candidates for the degrees of B.C.E. and B.S.E. are eligible and invited to attend. The purpose of the organization is to afford an opportunity for members of the civil engineering classes to become acquainted, to present competent speakers on topics of interest to engineering students, and to foster a professional spirit among the students. Business sections for the discussion of items of interest and the formulation of plans for future technical and social events feature the regular meetings. Each meeting with the exception of the first and last has a guest speaker. The first meeting is concerned with the development of plans for the year and the last with the election of officers. Three members represent us on the Engineers' Council, and four are on the staff of the School of Engineering paper, MECHELECIV. In addition, two other members were tapped by ODK.

Offering opportunities in the electrical field, the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers is a national professional society for that field. The monthly meetings feature noted authorities on engineering and related subjects and the opportunity to meet fellow engineering students. The A.I.E.E.-sponsored field trips take the members to nearby electrical installations.

The outstanding event of the season is the Spring dinner where the student society meets with the Washington branch to tell them of the society's activities for the year. Another interesting event is the prize paper competition. Here the students have the chance to present some of the knowledge that they have received at G. W. in a paper that is judged by members of the Washington branch. The winner of this event has his expenses paid to a later competition between other schools of this division.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

The George Washington University student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is open to all students of the University pursuing an engineering curriculum. This branch, one of 127 throughout the country, is an integral part of the national organization for all professional mechanical engineers. The Washington, D. C., section of the A.S.M.E., numbering more than 500 mechanical engineers, meets the first Wednesday of every month. It sponsors regular inspection trips to developmental and experimental research facilities in the area and the members also find time to publish their own newspaper which is distributed gratis to all interested persons. In addition, the University Library serves as a depository for the various other publications of the Society. Their lighter side comes to the fore during occasional social get-togethers which include smokers and picnics. Members also travel to other school conferences to present technical papers and to participate in discussions.

The officers include Norman H. Henry, Chairman; Robert W. Cashman, Vice President; Arthur W. Schraitle, Secretary; David B. Tate, Treasurer; and Professor Frederick H. Kohloss, Honorary Chairman.

The G. W. student branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers is a national professional society of those interested in the communications option. The chapter is one of the twenty-nine college and university branches supported by the national organization. At the monthly meetings, outstanding speakers talk on subjects of general interest and importance to electrical engineers. These meetings are usually held in conjunction with the local Washington professional chapter of the Institute. The students are also invited to attend the Washington chapter's regular monthly meetings. Once a month the University chapter takes field trips to points of interest in and around Washington. Outstanding events in the social activities are the annual I.R.E.-A.I.E.E. baseball game in the spring, the annual summer picnic and participation in the Engineers' Ball and Mixer.

The Student Bar Association is a charter member of the American Law Student Association, sponsored by the Junior Bar Conference of the American Bar Association.

The group seeks to promote the professional and social activities of the law students at George Washington University in order that each student's opportunity for a successful legal career may be improved and a sense of public duty and service be developed.

All Law School students are automatically members of the Student Bar Association. Officers are elected each year near the beginning of the winter semester, and members of the various committees are appointed.

Members volunteer their services to help place students and alumni in legal positions on a nationwide basis in law firms, government agencies, business, and industry.

The Case Club gives law students an opportunity to argue an appellate case before a three man court and to compete with other students. Hypothetical cases are assigned to counsel, who prepare written briefs, and later present their arguments orally. Cases are decided both as to the law and as to the performance of counsel, who are individually rated. In the spring of the year, the two top-graded members from each semester's competition participate in the final case before a prominent jurist. All of the finalists receive prizes and the winner automatically becomes president of the Club for the following year. In addition to its competitive features, the Club affords its members training in preparation and presentation of cases.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Alpha Kappa Psi is a professional fraternity in the field of commerce. The aims of the fraternity are to further the individual welfare of its members, to foster scientific research in the field of commerce, and to promote in institutions of college rank courses leading to degrees in business administration.

At various times through the year, the fraternity presented to its members, as well as to other students of the University, speakers who were outstanding in their respective fields of commerce, and who discussed practical problems in business.

CURRENT AFFAIRS CLUB

The Current Affairs Club was formed in 1946 to discuss, stimulate interest in, and promote understanding of local, national and international affairs by non-partisan discussions of current problems. The club presents prominent speakers on various topics including politics and economics, such as David McCalmont, Vice President of the D. C. chapter of the Committee on Atlantic Union. Also, three members of the club attended the Middle Atlantic Conference of the American Association of International Relations Clubs.

SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

The Society for the Advancement of Management strives to acquaint its members with the problems and tools of management through the study of administrative procedures. The major project for the year 1949-50 was a series of three panel-forum discussions entitled "What Are My Employment Assets," "Marketing My Abilities," and "Where To Find The Job." With the cooperation of the Senior Class and the University Employment Office, SAM thus sponsored a student employment program to benefit the entire University.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America is a professional organization sponsored by the National Education Association to promote interest in the teaching profession and in general educational work. The projects for this year included help given by the F.T.A. to the Junior College and the School of Education in assisting students to complete Experience and Activity Records. The second project was a welcome program for the students in the School of Education and a homecoming for the Alumni of that school, jointly sponsored by the F.T.A., the School of Education, Pi Lambda Theta, and Phi Delta Kappa.

CHESS CLUB

The University Chess Club, founded this year, is now one of the most active organizations on campus. Before the first month of its existence had elapsed, the club's membership numbered over thirty players. The purpose of the club is to provide a convenient meeting place for all students who are interested in promoting the game of chess. An intra-club round-robin tournament for purposes of seeding members according to skill has facilitated more evenly matched games, and the club has been admitted to the District Chess League.

DEBATE TEAM

The Debate Team represents the University in intercollegiate forensic competition. Besides debate, the members also enter into competition in public speaking, extemporaneous speaking, poetry reading, and oral problem solving. Teams are sent to many tournaments during the college year including those at Boston University, William and Mary, and Richmond University. Our teams have also entered the Grand National Tournament, the West Point National Invitational, and the Southeastern Tournament. The activity is carried on through the University Speech Department under the direction of Mr. George F. Henigan, Director of Debate.

The Debate Team of the University meets with Advisers Henigan and Krebs in the Speech Department.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club, or El Club Español, was formed to enable students of Spanish in the University to become better acquainted with Spanish and Latin American culture, and with the language of Spain. Members must have had at least one year's study of Spanish. Through a broad program of social and educational functions, the members of El Club Español endeavor to fulfill their aims, and to enjoy many pleasant moments in each other's company.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, or Le Cercle Français Universitaire, is a social club formed at the turn of the century to interest advanced French students in the culture and problems of France. The club therefore invites speakers to its meetings who can enrich their knowledge of that country. Various get togethers, at which French music is played, and other social and educational programs enable the members of Le Cercle Français to keep in close contact with France.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club is a social organization designed to give the Department students an opportunity for practical application of their class problems.

Highlight of the year was the "Hi-Fashion" Show given at the first annual conference of the District Home Economics Association and the Home Economics Department in November. Girls from the Home Ec. Department were the models. The conference was opened by Mrs. Joshua Evans, of the University Board of Trustees, and the program included two movies and a luncheon with Mrs. Bess Furman, New York Times correspondent and author, as guest speaker.

MASONIC CLUB

The George Washington University Masonic Club has customarily sponsored the annual Cherry Blossom Drive for scholarship funds in the University School of Government. For the second consecutive year it has won the Melville D. Hensey Trophy, a national competitive award for the most successful Cherry Blossom drive.

Features of the Masonic Club were a lecture on undersea warfare and the club's regular smokers.

Dr. Myron L. Koenig, Dean of the Junior College, was faculty adviser this year.

HELLENIC SOCIETY

The purpose of the Hellenic Society is to provide contact among students interested in the Greek language and culture, and to help them become familiar with developments along these lines. Money has been raised by informal dances and raffles for the main project, the Greek Book Fund. The club also sponsors lectures, as the ones given by Mr. B. Papadakis on Ancient Greek philosophers; by a member of the diplomatic corps on present day conditions in Greece, and by Dr. Latimer. Among the social events were a Thanksgiving card party and a Christmas party.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The International Students Association was formed in order to give foreign students at the University an opportunity to gather together on a social basis and enable their members to participate more fully in campus life. The major event of the fall season was a folk dance held under the direction of Tom Pence, where native dances of various countries were demonstrated. The spring semester was highlighted by a Valentine's Day Tea Dance, held at International House.

THE ART CLUB

The Art Club recognizes the benefits that a beginner in the commercial or fine art fields can gain from public showings of his work, and so hopes to establish an annual show, of the type which was so well received last year, as a sort of "institution" at G. W.

The club also intends to arrange lectures by prominent people in all phases of art to which the entire student body would be welcome.

MARTHA WASHINGTON CLUB

The Martha Washington Club is a social group for independent girls organized for the purpose of promoting friendship and extra-curricular activities on campus. The club began the school year with a complete interior decorating job on their room. They do welfare work at Christmas and Easter and plan to make gifts for Children's Hospital patients. Among the social activities were a Coke N' Record party and a buffet dinner for freshman girls in the fall, a formal initiation banquet for new members, Christmas and Valentine formals, and a hayride.

WESLEY CLUB

The purpose of the Wesley Club is to promote religious fellowship on campus and to bring together the Methodist students at the University. The weekly meetings feature a speaker who talks on a subject useful to college students. Among the outstanding guests this year have been Mr. Howard Reese, Director of the Baptist Student Union, and Mrs. A. T. Robinson, wife of the minister of Calvary Methodist Church, who had recently returned from an international conference of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The club holds a planned party once a month.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club is an Episcopalian student association on campus. The purpose of the organization is to provide spiritual guidance, fellowship, and religious education for Episcopal college students. Besides the annual retreat, the club in conjunction with the other religious organizations on campus arranged for the Reverend Bryan Green to speak in Lisner Auditorium. Reverend Green is a Church of England clergyman who has had experience speaking to young people throughout the British Isles and America. During the eight-day mission at the Washington Cathedral, The Canterbury Club attended the Sunday evening mission as a group.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at George Washington University is devoted to bringing to the university community the important values of the Jewish heritage. Serving the Jewish students and their friends Hillel offers a program of religious, cultural and educational activities designed to bring greater meaning to Jewish experience for living today.

Hillel is a self-governing collegiate community functioning through elected student officers. Included in the program activities are regular religious services, conducted by students each Friday night during the school year, and special religious services on the holidays. Hillel boasts a choral society, a folk dance group, and a number of other activity groups. Regularly scheduled are cultural programs of lectures, discussions, and movies. Classes in matters pertaining to Judaism are also held.

Dances, parties and entertainments are held regularly, and one of the biggest events of the year is the annual All-University Ball O' Fire.

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation located at 2129 F St., N. W., seeks to help all those who come and participate in its program to find a richer and fuller life.

THE WESTMINSTER FOUNDATION

The Westminster Foundation is the Presbyterian Church college group at the University, aiming to promote fellowship among its members through cooperation in educational and social projects. Meeting every Tuesday at 1905 H Street, the Foundation sponsors a varied program of lectures, discussions, and parties. The most outstanding events of the year are the retreats held at Chopawansic Park every fall and spring, in conjunction with the University of Maryland. The speakers at these affairs were seniors from Princeton University. Weekly meetings are taken up with informal parties and discussions pertaining to current problems. During the summer, the members of the Westminster Foundation remain as active as ever, meeting weekly for beach parties. By recognizing the need of each student for recreational as well as further educational opportunities, the Westminster Foundation therefore plays an important part in the lives of its members.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club brings Roman Catholic students together to deepen their spiritual and enrich their temporal lives through a program of faith, facts, and fun. Most of these activities are held at the Newman House, where such facilities as television, ping pong, piano, record-player, and coke-bar are available to members.

Corporate Communion is made on the first Sunday of each month, with breakfast afterwards at McKee's Cafeteria.

Many annual events make up the busy social year for the members of the Newman Club. Initiation-Receptions and Days of Recollection are held each semester. During Christmas the Anniversary Tea takes place the second Sunday in December, and on the last Saturday before Christmas the Newman Club members gave a party for the poor children of the Immaculate Conception Parish. The highlight of the year comes in the spring, however, with the All-University formal, "Campus Celebrity Capers," which climaxes May Day activities.

The Christian Science Organization was established at The George Washington University in 1931, to promote orderly growth in the study of the religion for all Christian Scientists on campus, and to represent the Christian Science movement for all interested students and faculty members. Its regular meetings are held weekly in Building O, the University Religion Building. The organization sponsors a lecture about Christian Science given on campus each spring by a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, and in the fall, new students are invited to an orientation reception.

STAUGHTON HALL

Under the capable guardianship of Mrs. Lee, the girls of Staughton Hall enjoyed a year full of fun and frolic. School work was ever interrupted by spontaneous parties and games up and down the halls, although quiet hours were carefully enforced by the Dormitory Council. Occasional planned functions, such as the Christmas Party, added to a truly wonderful year for the girls of Staughton Hall.

Strong Hall, the women's dormitory, was the scene of hustle and bustle with the start of school. As the girls moved in, they settled down to decorate with fancy curtains, paintings, and much furniture rearranging to get ready for the annual Open House. On November 20th girls from Staughton Hall judged the rooms and awarded prizes to Mildred McDowell and Wilma Bailey for the most attractive double room, and to Robbie Lush for the nicest single room. During the Open House that day, guests were served punch in the lounge after touring the building.

The daily routine was again interrupted by the Christmas party on December 18th. The gay celebration was arranged by members of the Dormitory Council. After the hot chocolate and cookies had been served, each floor presented entertainment. Accompanied by Gloria Binzel, the girls then joined in singing the traditional Christmas carols. Under the brightly lit Christmas tree, the girls placed the gifts that they had contributed to Bill Herson's Doll House.

Hearts is the game.

Over on the corner of 22nd and G stands Draper Hall. This is the home away from home for about one hundred and thirty student veterans attending school under the G. I. Bill. It was built in 1946 by the Federal Public Housing Authority and is now owned, managed, and maintained by the University. It was the first of its kind in the Washington area.

The hall, constructed from war-time Army barracks, is named in honor of Lt. Courtney Roger Draper, a law alumnus of the University who was taken prisoner on Bataan by the Japanese. He was killed when American forces destroyed the transport carrying him and other prisoners from the Philippines in December, 1944.

Matters concerning Draper's personnel and rentals are handled by Max Farrington, Director of Men's Activities. The supervision of living conditions and building maintenance is taken care of by Leonard W. Vaughan, Assistant Director of Veteran's Education. Stanley Cherwick serves as Chairman-Treasurer of Draper, with William Kemp and George Blake comprising the House Committee.

THE 1949 FOOTBALL TEAM

Two years after the arrival of "Bo" Rowland and his powerful single-wing offense, "George" finds top drawer football definitely on the up-swing. As each year the Buff and Blue climbs a little higher to the top of the Southern Conference, the enlivened student body has found that it has a team of which it can be justly proud. The bull's eye passing of the superb Andy Davis, the fine running of Dugoff, Kline, and Jones plus that of Tivnan, Cavallo, Cilento, and Shaw, mixed with the teeth-rattling interference of Burak and Kennedy, multiplied by the punishing blocking of the vastly improving line, equal a potent offense that averages over 14 points per game. Although the 4-5 record was not a winning one everybody is looking confidently to the future — particularly after the rollicking victory over Georgetown.

G. W. 13 — VIRGINIA 27

In the opener for both teams G.W. suffered defeat by the revengeful Virginia eleven at Charlottesville. Not so sweet was the victory though, when the Buffs began clicking in the third period to tie the 13 point lead. Discovering early the ineffectualness of a ground attack, Andy Davis led the Buffmen in a spectacular aerial offensive. Charlie Jones repeatedly snatched Davis' aerials, one of them for a 94 yd. score. Passes again resulted in a score as two tosses to Jones and Frank Close set up Al Dugoff's touchdown plunge. Although the Buffs continued to play a hard game, the Cavaliers' Johnny Papit ran wild—nothing could stop him.

G. W. 7 — V. M. I. 14

The statistics don't show the defeat the Colonials met at Lexington. Many felt the loss undeserved after witnessing the all-around brilliant play of the Buffs. The defensive backs virtually stopped V.M.I.'s passes and the line continually broke up their frequent reverses. Davis set the pace as two perfect pitches to Jones and Close carried the ball to the Keydets' goal and Handy Andy drove over to give the Buffmen a 7-0 lead at the half. Dugoff, Stan Burak, and Sophomore Jack Tivnan were constant threats on the ground as were Jones, Butler and Close on the end of Davis' sparkling aerials.

G. W. 14 — KANSAS 21

In the third game of the season, at Lawrence, Rowland's "Boys" for the third time made the contest close. Again the line displayed their ability, this time against a larger line, opening holes for Bob Cilento and Jones and filling those of the Jay-hawkers. After a long floating pass to Butler by Davis in the second period, Dugoff ran over the first score. Another drive was begun by a Davis to Butler toss and climaxed by the ripping runs of Dugoff to tie 14 all at the end of the third quarter. Consistent gains, rushing and passing gave Kansas their three markers, assisted somewhat no doubt when Davis was knocked out.

G. W. 24 — V. P. I. 14

The Colonials rolled to their first victory as they defeated Virginia Tech at Blacksburg. Dugoff led the Buff and Blue while Handy Andy watched from the bench. All four scores were on the ground and all were by Dugoff, assisted by the blocking of Jim Feula and the driving of Cilento and Jim Kline. Breaking the monotony of long marches, Dugoff carried the second half kick-off 105 yds. for a touchdown. As a clincher the defensive line allowed Tech. only one yard on the ground in the entire first half.

G. W. 21 — WASHINGTON & LEE 19

Seemingly inspired by the taste of victory, the Colonials upset the favored W. & L. eleven in their first home game. Although outweighed, the Buff linemen slashed open holes for Andy and Dugoff. Davis' pin point passes clicked as usual and accounted for one tally when Davis hit Jones in the end zone. Davis's tosses to Jones, Butler, and Close paved the way for high-scoring ace Dugoff and Handy Andy, each crashing over for six. Frank Cavallo's three perfect conversions supplied the winning margin.

G. W. 14 — LAFAYETTE 7

The Colonials brought their record to 3-3 for the season by smearing Lafayette in the muddy Griffith Stadium. Of necessity the game became simply a kicking contest in which Davis successfully returned each of the Leopards' 24 punts and Shullenbarger averaged 37 yds. per in G.W.'s kicking department. Unexpectedly the Buffmen took to the air as Andy hit Jones twice and Szanyi once with the slippery pigskin for the first period's seven point lead. An 80 yd. touchdown dash by Dugoff broke the tie that stood until the last minutes of the final period. This clash was indeed conducive to a joyous Homecoming week-end for the Buff and Blue.

G. W. 14 — MARYLAND 40

True, when the final gun sounded the score read 14-40, but the cold figures give no indication of the vicious struggle that raged through the cold, crisp afternoon at Byrd Stadium. Only in the second quarter, when Maryland tallied four times, did the game get out of hand. The second half was a different story; the Colonials, led by the savage running and bullet passing of Tivnan, came snarling back. Playing inspired ball the Buff line fought the magnificent Terp line on even terms. Tackles Shipman & Drayer Inc. left no Terp unturned as two long drives yielded TDs. Rugged Bill Szanyi was the receiver of both touchdown pegs — one by Davis, the other by Tivnan.

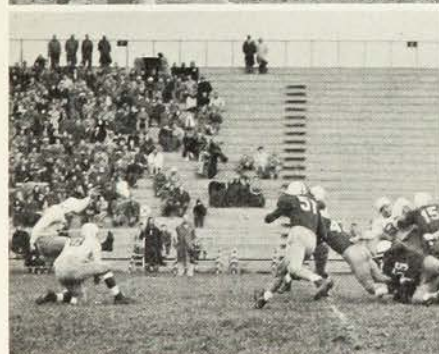

This completed pass to Szanyi from Davis was welcome in the Maryland game.

G. W. 0 — DUKE 35

GW's only whitewashing was incurred when capable Billy Cox, leading the Blue Devils, had a field day in Griffith Stadium. The Colonials, on defense 75 per cent of the time, suffered an uninterrupted touchdown parade. Only once did the Colonials come within scoring distance; in the final period the Buffmen charged and threw their way down to Duke's 14, but there the drive was dispelled by the stout Duke defense. Rowland's ramblers played fairly good fundamental football but it was one of those days when things just don't click. The thwarted gridders did, however, cut last year's horrendous score in half.

Dugoff made plenty of valuable yardage on this play before being overhauled by three Blue Devils. Duke game.

An answer to a tailback's prayer. Get a load of the blocking Andy is getting from Shipman, Drayer and Howell.

G. W. 28 — GEORGETOWN 7

The smashing of Georgetown's Sun-Bowl-bound grid-men was by far the Colonials' sweetest victory in many a year. The much-favored Hoyas were sadly out-run and out-passed at every turn in this, a fitting wind-up of the Buffs' season. Twelve thousand excited fans, among them the Colonials' honorary co-captain, the Shah of Iran, witnessed the upset in a drizzling rain.

The first Buff & Blue tally was made by Dugoff, culminating a sustained drive of 77 yards sparked by Kline and Handy Andy. Frank Cavallo broke through for the second score after he and Davis had marched 80 yards, and again in the third, following-up a Buff-recovered fumble on Georgetown's 15, Cilento crashed over in six tries. In the final period, Dugoff scored for the fourth time on the fumbling Hoya 11, and Cavallo, as has become his habit, placed his fourth perfect conversion squarely between the uprights.

Those who have hung up their cleats for the last time are featured on pages 182-3. Regrettable is the exception of "Stash" Burak, considered by those who know, as "the finest Blocking-Back in the South."

The 1949 Freshman team was without a doubt the greatest Frosh eleven ever to wear the Buff and Blue. They were big, strong, smart and aggressive. These scores only partially record their superiority: GW 13, Bullis 0; GW 32 Ft. Myer 6; GW 18, Maryland 13; GW 9, Georgetown 0. They are, left to right: First row—Sileo, Shannon, Sestokas, Flyzik, Waldron, Baumgartner, Samuelson, Barreira, Rizzuto, Warfield, Coach Hanken; Second row—Coach Spangler, England, Thompson, DeRagan, Semkew, Allwine, Wofford, Wojtowicz, Edgerton, Continetti, Karousatos.

BASKETBALL

William J. Reinhart, a Colonial coach from 1935 to 1942, was appointed head coach of basketball and baseball last fall to succeed Arthur J. (Otts) Zahn, who resigned because of ill health. Reinhart has an admirable record as a G. W. coach, having compiled a .724 percentage for the seven-year span.

Immediately to Reinhart fell the difficult task of organizing a team from a roster that included only six veterans of last year. In addition to the half-dozen returnees, Johnny Moffatt, Len Small, Sam Schreiber, Gene Witkin, and Phil McNiff, 1946-7 varsity regulars Art Cerra and Howie Hoffman returned to help the Buff & Blue. Rookies Alan Sherr, Jack Lewis, and John McDonough, along with the '48 Frosh contributions, Waldo Goglin, Bob Parkinson, and Wally Warner, rounded out the squad. Prominent among the newcomers was Goglin, who showed signs of becoming one of the greatest cage stars in the area in his two years of remaining eligibility.

These cagers met powerful opposition in North Carolina, North Carolina State, Duke, Virginia, Temple, and Manhattan. Scoring a win over Georgetown, the Colonials took the mythical District championship and competed in the Southern Conference tourney. At home the Colonial squad was featured in four double-headers at the Armory with Georgetown.

BASEBALL

"... when she was good she was very, very good and when she was bad she was horrid."

This little ditty nearly epitomizes the 1949 Team. Pitchers Shank, Becraft, Kuldell and Cordelli were all at times very, very good, pitching effectively if not beautifully. Krikorian, Citrenbaum and Cavallo were the Pasture boys. In the infield Famulatte handled third, Druckenmiller at first. At second and short DeAngelis and Yednock worked in various combinations.

Joe Famulatte proved to be a diamond in the rough for the Colonials. His sterling work at the plate — he hit over .350 — at times tended to overshadow his aggressive and brilliant work at third. In short, Joe was voted by his team mates the perpetual DeAngelis Award for the Most Valuable Varsity Baseball Player.

RIFLE TEAM

The GWU rifle team has one of the finest records of any of The University's organizations. From '27 to '50, Coach Frank Parsons has produced marvelous teams. In the last 20 years, GWU has won three national championships and placed more than 20 men on All-American Collegiate teams. Although competing against some of the best of the 170 college teams registered, they have finished lower than 10th only four times. Last year Woodward Eicke set a new national record while winning the N.I.R.C. title.

SWIMMING TEAM

The swimming team, overcoming many difficulties, made a representative showing in the '49-'50 season. Out of the three veterans, two (Captain Bill Havens and George Webb) were lost from the team by mid-season. Tom Trotter, the remaining veteran, compiled an enviable array of wins. The future looked bright as novice distance swimmers Charlie Yuill and Jim Hardy, breast-stroker Paul Andes, and back-stroker Jim Campbell came along fast.

SAILING TEAM

The team sailed this year against outstanding schools of the East, and won at least once over MIT, Yale, Boston College, Brown, Princeton, RPI, Cornell, Michigan, Ohio State, University of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Georgetown, and Navy.

Climaxing the Fall sailing season was our own Potomac Frostbite Regatta. For the second time in the three years that this Regatta has been held, the Colonial skippers walked off with the Marvin-Gorham-Byrd Trophy. The Buff sailors are acknowledged to be one of the foremost teams in the country.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Joe Krupa, Director of Intramural Sports, deserves the credit for developing G.W.U.'s highly successful intramural program, perhaps the finest in collegiate circles. Assisting him is Buddy Stein, capable student director of the Intramural Council. Stemming from intramural competition, extramural track and wrestling teams have been formed. In touch-football Theta Delta Chi, Fraternity champs, nosed out the Ramblers, Independent winners, for the All-U title. ## WOMEN'S SPORTS

Did you ever see a girl rush madly from Building L, tennis shoe in one hand and racquet in the other? Do you remember those days when your best girl arrived in class looking as if she had held her head under a water faucet? Just remember fellows . . . the tennis bus leaves at 9:00 and your best girl is a prospective Esther Williams. All in all, it adds up to Women's Sports, one of the most popular phases of campus life. Under the excellent supervision of Miss Ruth Atwell, this program provides for every Coed whether her taste runs to field hockey or a nicely turned do-se-do. Competition is always keen, fun is never missing, injuries are few and the pleasant memories will last a lifetime.

Claire Del Vecchio, Kim Deam, Gwenn Bunting . . . the long and the short of it.

The activity of the fall, tennis, hockey, golf, and soccer, had scarcely ceased before the winter season swung in. Birdies and basketballs filled the air in the gym, dance rhythms beat out in Building J, and skates were flashing at Riverside and the Ice Palace. The library elevator soon became a popular mode of transportation. Spring breezes and our fancy turned to thoughts of swimming, sailing and that old softball diamond. How could a year pass so quickly, anyway?

Smoothly we glide. That's nice, Jane; now try it with your eyes open.

 There's a reason why you buy
 There's a reason why you sell
 But there ain't no reason why you

 So shout, students, shout!

Come on, let's have a number 7!!

CHEERLEADERS

And shout they do! Whether on a beautiful afternoon in the stadium at Charlottesville, Virginia, or in the mud and muck of Griffith Stadium, the cheerleaders are there to lead the stands in cheers for the Buff and Blue eleven of G.W.

They are also there to cheer the powerful frosh team on to a victorious season . . . the team that dealt the Georgetown freshmen a rankling defeat on an afternoon that was really cold! Practically froze.

LIMBERING UP: Bob Hildebrand, Peggy Caldwell, Betty Russell, Penny Seleen, Walt Wills.

From September to November we are there to back the team; then, before we know it, we're transplanted to the Armory watching the mighty Colonial quintet out-handle and out-shoot their opponents.

All is not hard work for us though . . . there are those joyous Wednesday night practices; the trips to away-games with the band; the bus ride to Maryland with the freshman team; television, radio and stage engagements (celebrities, yet); and last but not least, the after-game gatherings at the "823." All in all its a combination of work and a lot of fun. Thanks to both the football and basketball teams for giving us something to cheer about . . . above all thanks to Myrt Lanckton and George Rawnsley, our Co-Captains who have been so patient and hard working. It's been a great year!

SIGMA CHI

There before me was the castle of Sigma Chi. Its mighty turrets loomed above the meadow of G. Curiosity bade me to see who were these valiant knights and what chivalrous deeds were there performed.

Three colorful gatherings highlighted the social season. On December 16, Barbara Hanby, Kappa Kappa Gamma, was selected as Sweetheart of Sigma Chi for 1950. In the second semester both the Greenwich Village Ball and the Spring Formal were held, culminating an enjoyable social year for the Sigs and their dates.

Athletically, the Sigs took second in interfraternity and intramural swimming, placing also in golf and tennis. In varsity sports, Pledge Thomas Trotter added a second year in swimming, and Pledge Ed Hughes joined the baseball team.

Among campus leaders, Howard Ticktin, Consul and Interfraternity Athletic Chairman, and Chet McCall, former Consul and Editor-in-Chief of the 1950 CHERRY TREE, were elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Others active are Thomas Dougherty, former Homecoming Director; Jake Bayer, Advertising Manager of the CHERRY TREE; and Courtland Randall, President of the Christian Science Organization, and a member of the Band and Glee Clubs.

KAPPA SIGMA

In a feudal castle of resplendent elegance behind their newly strengthened walls, I found the lion-hearted valiants of Kappa Sigma. A candidate for knighthood in this order met me at the portals and cordially invited us to enter.

The brothers of Kappa Sigma started the year off by moving into a new house. Now Kappa Sig parties could be bigger and better than ever before! The formal presentation of the house, located at 1737 Massachusetts Avenue, took place in October, with Alumnus Louis Best officiating as master of ceremonies. Jody Miller, Miss Washington of 1948, added to the festivity of the occasion by entertaining the brothers with song, and brother Eugene Sweeney, composer of "Hail to the Buff," gave forth his rendition of the University's fight song.

A highlight of the gay social season was the open house held after the Georgetown game. There the whole university was treated to the splendor of the Kappa Sig's new abode. Other social events to keep the year very busy for the brothers of Alpha Eta Chapter included costume parties, exchange dances with the various sororities on campus, the "Black and White" Christmas Formal, the Spring Formal, and of course, the inevitable Saturday night get-togethers.

"Charge!" cried the grey knight as he spurred his mighty stallion. "I fight for the Stars and Bars of the lovely Confederacy." Perceiving this to be a just cause worthy of my assistance as knight-errant, I joined him with my noble steed. He welcomed me as a brother and told me of his cause.

Studies, athletics, campus activities, and the inevitable social functions combined to keep the brothers of Alpha Nu Chapter of Kappa Alpha ever busy.

Participating vigorously in interfraternity athletics, the KA's walked off with the swimming trophy and stood well in other sports. Outstanding in extra-curricular activities were Bill Benson, president of the Interfraternity Council and Chairman of the Executive Committee of Colonial Boosters; Bill Cuddy, Editor of the STUDENT HANDBOOK and Homecoming Co-Director; and Arch Harrison, member of ODK.

Aside from numerous exchange dances, the brothers of Kappa Alpha had a busy social season. Highlights of the fall semester were the Tacky Ball, where the pledges gave the actives a hard time, and the Pledge Formal, where the actives honored the pledges at Normandy Farms. In the spring, the annual Dixie Ball week-end brought another great year for the KA's to a close.

THETA DELTA CHI

Old and venerable are the blazons of Theta Delta Chi. Most durable and longest in continuous existence, it waves triumphant over the street of G, having survived the war and tumult.

Outstanding members include Scotty Fleetwood, Student Council Activities Director and member of Who's Who; Joe Barish, Student Council Freshman Director; Stan Burak, four letterman in football; Frank Cavallo, also a four letterman in football; and Joe Famulatte, three letterman in baseball.

Highlights of the 1949-50 school year at Chi Deuteron are numerous. Ranking second among the campus Greeks in scholarship, the Theta Delts were awarded the Sigma Chi Scholarship Cup for improvement. In athletics, the brothers won the all-fraternity and all-university football championships. The social department did big things with the annual Bowery Ball and the Dreamgirl Dance, thanks to the fine work of Ed Garro, Social Chairman.

In recognition of his excellent work in coaching the TDX football team to an undefeated, untied, and unscored upon season, the Theta Delts presented Joe Bernot with a trophy inscribed "1949 Coach of the Year."

Barrish, Bernot, Bostwick, Cavallo, Dietz, Famulatte, Fleetwood, Garro, Lawler, Monk, Pietras, Portwine, Seegrist, Skinner, Stevens, Uchman.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

With lance and shield, paintbrush and politics, the knights of Phi Sigma Kappa sought their goals. After redecorating the bar, they began with an open house for the entire university.

The most memorable event was our Golden Anniversary in October. The second oldest national social fraternity on campus, Lambda Chapter marked its 50th birthday at G. W. with a banquet and formal dance. Among our other social functions in '49-'50 were the Farmer's Day Ball, where pretty June Burt was chosen "Farmer's Daughter," and the Christmas carolling and tree-trimming parties, followed by the annual Christmas Formal.

Toward the end of the year, the Phi Sigs were looking forward to the Carnation Ball and their vacation at Chopawamsic Park after final exams.

The brothers especially active on campus were Lennie Grant, Student Council program director and chairman of the Student Union Committee; Chuck Lilien, three-time winner of the Emma K. Carr scholarship and member of the Student Life Committee; Eric Nordholm, winning high-point skipper of the Frostbite Regatta; Hal Hart, member of the HATCHET Board of Editors; and Bob Pittman, Student Council comptroller; while Lennie Grant, Chuck Lilien, and Jim Crowley were selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Beach, Cardano, Carroll, Clark, Conte, Craft, Crowley, Dentz, Freese, Hart, Hines, Hook, E. Howar, R. Howar, Inzinna, Karm, Leonard, Lilien, Lindsay, Link, Lourenco, McCawley, Pittman, Rivera, Specht, Stephenson, Van Allen, Wagner, Will, Woods, Dulcie.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The noble knights of Sigma Alpha Epsilon thrust their hands up to the very elbows in what is called adventure. My noble squire and I accosted them on our quest and found them chivalrous.

With an active chapter of forty-six and a pledge class of twenty-six, the Sig Alphas took an energetic part in campus life as well as following an active social schedule. The social life of the chapter was climaxed by the annual Bal Boheme, where the brothers and their guests appeared in a variety of weird costumes ranging from sober parsons to the prize-winning ostrich and her egg.

Among the outstanding SAEs prominent around the University were John Donaldson, HATCHET Editor and Student Council Publicity Chairman; Warren Gould, HATCHET Sports Editor; Lou Alexiou, CHERRY TREE Features Editor and "Martha Washington"; Garo Krikorian, Varsity Baseball and ODK; Don Sparks, Business Manager of the HATCHET; and Pete Smith, President of the Radio Workshop, ODK, and Who's Who.

The SAE pledges were also not idle. Bill Shaw, Pete Cordelli, and Bob Cilento were members of the varsity football squad, while Fotis Karousatos was on the freshman eleven and was voted "Apollo" at the Hillel Ball of Fire.

Bunker, Crissel, Coleman, Cowell, Denny, Donaldson, Embler, Generally, Gibbs, Gordon, Graves, Heasley, Hooker, Hughes, Jones, Kendall, Krikorian, Kriner, Kunz, Perce, Reeves, Severe, Shea, Smith, Spangler, Torrey.

PHI ALPHA

Striving for eternal glory and reknown, these men of honor were intent on many lofty puposes.

After spending the first few weeks of the year painting, scrubbing, and polishing the new house, the brothers of Alpha Chapter of Phi Alpha started the season off with a bang-up house warming for the whole campus. By the time that the last guest had departed at curfew hour, everyone was in a jovial mood.

The rest of the social season went smoothly from the Initiation Banquet for Mischa Elman through the Rose Ball, a formal dance given jointly with Phi Sigma Sigma, and ending with the Georgetown Reunion, where next year's officers were installed. The new quarters made house dances a big improvement over those held last year.

The year also saw Martin "Bo" Kirsch, the one man cheering section, serving as Student Council Advocate, while prexy Julian Singman was Chairman of the HATCHET Board of Editors and a member of the Student Life Committee. Brothers Gene Witkin and Ray Adler starred on the varsity basketball squad, while Bob Edenbaum and pledge Dick Wolf paced the freshman five along. Thus 1949-50 was an enjoyable and successful year for the Phi Alphs.

SIGMA NU

The knights of the white star charged into their 34th year and found it a year of achievement. Thirty-five new squires were gained, the damsels of the campus were entertained in a round of sorority dinners, and the season was climaxed with a "best ever" Christmas Formal in the Continental Room of the Wardman Park.

The G. W. Homecoming Float Cup was won for the second consecutive year. Serious plans were again made for a try at top honors in the IFC Sing and May Day Carnival competitions.

The spring semester plans included the Initiation Formal, an alumni tea, the "Roaring Twenties" Party, the annual "Frontier Ball," the Spring Formal Dinner-Dance, and after exams and Ocean City, the annual Summer Cruise in June.

In intramural sports Sigma Nu started off by placing in tennis, swimming, and golf with high hopes for softball and other sports in the spring.

Outstanding Sigma Nu's this year were Junior Class President Dick Chillemi, Glee Club President Dick Randall, Gate and Key members Bill Patterson and Bill Clark, Phi Beta Kappa Charles Floyd, S.A.M. President Joe Erico, G. W.'s quartet members Dick Hedges and John Parker, and Delta Zeta sorority's "Dream Boy" Ed Leyendecker.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

Knights well bred; courteous and kind, performing acts of chivalry like visionary phantoms under the dolorous symbol of a death head and cross bones are the gallants of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

A busy social calendar made the "Teke" house the scene of humming activity throughout the year. Dressed in rags to depict their professional debut from college in its most unglamorous stage, the "Tekes" had a grand time at their annual Hard Times Party. A Sport Dance also highlighted their parade of costumed affairs. Three other main events—the Christmas Ball, the annual Valentine Party, and the Spring Formal—rounded out the program of main events. In addition, the "Teke" house was the scene of many informal parties and other activities, as monthly movies, throughout the year.

Stanley Klukowski brought attention to the fraternity by leaving for France on a Fulbright Scholarship. He is one of 200 chosen out of 2,000. Members participated actively in many of the major campus activities throughout 1949-1950, besides competing in all of the interfraternity sports and in the interfraternity sing.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Bold deeds and glad hearted gayety have been the lot of the nautical knights of Pi Kappa Alpha. I heard that they had been cast upon a desert island. Here they staged a Shipwreck Ball which lured over six hundred university students to an evening beneath the palms. Now rescued by their guests they continue the affairs of chivalry. What audacious cavaliers are these!

With everything ship-shape again, the crew set sail for new honors. PiKA's Andy Davis, Frank Close, Jim Kline, and Walt Savage of the varsity football squad kept G. W.'s opponents tied in knots. Phil McNiff and Bud Goglin carried the ball in basketball. In intramural sports the goal was to recapture the interfraternity all-sports trophy won last year. First step was the taking of the bowling trophy. Ralph Louk pulled the ropes as chairman of the Homecoming Dance and Jim Roamer was tapped for ODK.

With April came smooth sailing and the annual Dream Girl Dance. Formal dress was the order of the day as this last great event was written into the social log. Throughout a busy year, the brothers of PiKA brought their good ship safely into port.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Amity and cordial love were the bywords for the knights of the pearl, gold heart. I observed that this feeling would melt the stub of hardest hearts and turn them to gold.

The District of Columbia Alpha chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon started out the fall season with a rapid round of exchange dances. The members spent many a wonderful Sunday afternoon and Friday night in this delightful pursuit. The season ended with the annual post-exam party at the house.

First on the list of activities for the spring semester was a change in residence. The old green house on the Connecticut Avenue hill was for rent. The "best ever" Heart Ball was held again in the spring. The Greek Week open house, alumni smokers, Founder's Day Banquet, a Poverty Party, and exchange dances rounded out the social activities in the spring.

The Sig Eps placed teams in the intramural football and basketball contests and had high hopes for the softball, wrestling, and rifle teams.

Outstanding Sig Eps for the year were Bill Whittemore, Student Life Committee, Gate and Key, and President of the Engineers' Council; Bill Hunley, Rifle Team Captain and Gate and Key; Herb Taylor, Gate and Key; and HATCHETman Lew Cassidy.

ACACIA

Good fellowship prevailed in the merry castle. The battlements rang with song and gaiety. Here were the noble knights of the order of Acacia, dedicated to chivalry. Sancho and I partook of their hospitality, and asked to hear more of their deeds . . . we found them obliging.

The annual Christmas Formal and the spring "Go To Hell" Party highlight the social activities, including an invitation this year to the entire staff of MECHELECIV, the Engineering School news magazine, to a party in their honor at the house. Numerous exchange functions with the other campus Greeks, the informal "Stag Night" on Fridays (which invariably turns into a date affair), and the Saturday Evening Dances were held at the house.

Much time this past year has been devoted to hunting for a larger house in order to accommodate the increasing number of Acacians on campus. As an added feature this year the Acacians have been incorporating their recently redecorated 'Hell Room' into a gallery of souvenirs commemorating some of the outstanding social and campus functions of the year. Included are various "trophies" acquired during the past football season.

The brothers of Acacia can well look back on 1949-50 as a fine year in the history of their chapter.

ALPHA EPSILON PI

What valiant deeds and ordeals of battle have occupied these young gallants. We saw them in every type of endeavor.

In order to promote a greater feeling of unity among the brothers, we have sponsored a series of weekly get-togethers for both active and inactive members, and also have planned one major function a month. Cooperation in school activities included participation in the Homecoming Mummers Parade, as well as active support of all campus projects.

The football season wound up with our annual game with the AEPi chapter at the University of Maryland, energetically fought for the coveted "Herring Bucket," which has remained in our possession since the beginning of the series.

In the course of the year we also intend to continue our former practice of working on one major charitable project, and also a general broadening of our social program, including a second formal dance to supplement our Anniversary Dance.

All in all, the brothers of AEPi feel that they can look back on 1949-50 as an enjoyable and successful year. Through our program of increased social and activities participation, we feel that we have attained a greater significance on the George Washington campus.

DELTA TAU DELTA

These brothers in knighthood had sharpened their lances and donned their morions for a year of activity. Their armor became well known in the lists, both social and extra-curricular.

The Delts were kept busy throughout the fall semester with an Alumni Fall Formal, a Christmas dance, buffet suppers, and open houses. The "Smoke Filled Room" was a major event in November, in which the Delts sponsored a get-together between the candidates for class officers and various campus leaders. The annual Spring Formal at the Terrace Room of the National Airport highlighted the spring semester.

Well known around campus from the Delt chapter were Charlie Crichton, Student Council President and member of Who's Who; Walt Cottrel, President of the Sophomore Class; Conrad Hoffman, Business Manager of the CHERRY TREE; Donald Myrick, Phi Beta Kappa; and George Rawnsley, Co-captain of the Cheerleading squad.

At last well-settled in the new house on H Street, the Delts have thus made a noted contribution to campus life in 1949-50, and can look back on a very successful year.

TAU EPSILON PHI

Dashing and inspiring lords, 10,000 strong were the knights of Tau Epsilon Phi. They treated Sancho and I courteously and gave Rozinante some oats while telling their story.

Founded in 1910 at Columbia University, they have grown to thirty-nine orders. Chapters range from Dalhousie University in Nova Scotia to Southern California. Membership in the fraternity is close to 10,000 men.

Tau Theta chapter at The George Washington University was founded on February 21, 1932, and was the thirty-second chapter in order of establishment. Except for the war years, TEP has been at G. W. continually since that date.

Local alumni include George Garber, frosh basketball coach, who is alumni adviser to the chapter, and Arnold "Red" Auerbach, former coach of the Washington Caps.

Glindoff, Levy, Pomerantz, Robbins, Sabot.

ARGONAUTS

A wandering knight on the street of G informed me that he came from a land of castles larger and more luxuriant than any to be found here, but he had been drawn by the strange fascination, the pursuit of knowledge, to this kingdom of George.

The Argonauts were founded shortly after World War II in answer to the obvious need and want of the men whose fraternities were not represented at the University. The fraternity has been proud of its scholastic achievements: in the past it has stood at the top of the academic ladder. However, the Argonauts have never overlooked the all-important social aspect of college life. The fraternity is a closely knit organization, but is able through its heterogeneous membership to incorporate many ideas of other schools and fraternities. Meetings are open to all fraternity men interested in the group, and the Argonauts hope that in the future they may be of even greater service to the University.

PI BETA PHI

One day I espied a golden arrow which shone forth in resplendent glory. I was speculating on what lofty purposes and exalted ideas must encompass such an emblem when my young enchantress, the wearer of the arrow, approached. She told me of the activities, studies, parties and friendship of Pi Beta Phi.

The Pledge Formal was the highlight of the social year, held in November at the Washington Club. Fraternity and Sorority Open Houses, exchange dances, and the Faculty Tea added to the social calendar, as well as Monday evening Coffee Hours in honor of such campus organizations as ODK.

Pi Phi's were always quick to support campus functions and competitions, and received the third place cup for the Homecoming Float Parade. Individual activities honors went to many of the girls. Adeline Andrews was a member of Mortar Board and Who's Who, and Peg Mendenhall was President of Delphi. Jodie Hastings and Eugenia Brandenburger were cheerleaders; Brandy was director of the Freshman Follies and Jodie was Business Manager of Orchesis Group II. Janet Wildman was Associate Editor of THE CHERRY TREE. Jeanne Cleary was projects chairman of Tassels, Joanne Hyde and Gladys James being members.

CHI OMEGA

Rozinante pranced and capered as we came before the ladies of the Golden Horseshoe.

Phi Alpha Chapter began September with a successful dance honoring our alumnae. The Pledge Formal in November at the Hotel Sheraton was a great success, effectively introducing our pledges to the campus. We held a coffee hour for fraternities every second Friday, inviting the fraternities individually. The Kappa Sigmas were the first guests, since they are our brother fraternity. Every other Monday we had a dinner in the rooms for the chapter, thus bringing us even closer through mutual effort and enjoyment.

Jeanne Davis was elected Rear-Commodore of the Sailing Association. Jeanne was the first woman ever to hold this position at G. W. U. On the G. W. Elections Committee were Nancy Waite and Nancy Dilli. Louanne Hoffheins was on the Student Co-op Store committee. Lynn Clark was Secretary to the Student Council, and Maxine Loomis was Assistant Business Manager on the HATCHET. Participation in activities and greater scholastic achievement were stressed this year. Roundtable discussions were held for the exchange of ideas and for a clearer understanding of the purposes and policies of Chi Omega.

SIGMA KAPPA

Seventy-five years of joyous history 'neath the standards of the royal order of Sigma Kappa were marked by a grand celebration with the Maryland order.

Zeta commemorated the National anniversary by completely redecorating their third floor Sorority Hall apartment. Plans once drawn up, the summer was then consumed selecting furniture, rugs, and just the right shade of paint to match that bit of green in the curtains.

The year kaleidoscoped into a bright pattern of chapter activities: the pledges' debut into campus society at the pledge formal; the Christmas party and classic pledge poems; late hours spent constructing May Day booths and Homecoming Floats — early sing practices; the rustle of taffeta at exchange dances and of blue jeans at exchange picnics. Congratulations were extended to Louise Odineal who was named to Who's Who and served as Associate Editor of the CHERRY TREE. Three CHERRY TREE sub-editorial posts were also held by Sigma Kappas; while Claudia Chapline and Marie Willett were tapped for Tassels, and Diane Farrell for Pi Delta Epsilon.

With May and semester's end the chapter became just another clog in the Ocean City Ferry line.

PHI MU

Summer has seen these maidens travelling far over the land. From Rehoboth Beach to Stone Harbor had their fair steps traversed the trail. Could they be bent on securing the Holy Sepulchre from the Terrible Turks? Sancho and I felt sure that they must have some exalted purpose, for they sought high scholastic and great extracurricular achievement with crusading zeal. Sisterhood and society have occupied their talents as well. Perhaps their goal is the Holy Grail, or the Court of King Kampusite. We nodded approval as they told us of the year's events.

The social year started with the introduction of the new pledges at an open house on October 30, and was followed up by the Pledge Formal two weeks later. Other social functions included a Family Party in honor of Phi Mu Parents, a Christmas party, a Founders Day banquet at the Shoreham, and the traditional St. Patricks Day Tea for all sororities on campus.

Phi Mu points with pride to Leila Bagdoyan, secretary-treasurer of the Lutheran students Association, and Chapel Chairman of the Religious Council; Mary Sue Read, Historian of Future Teachers of America and religious column editor of the HATCHET; and Mary Lou Morrow, Glee Club soloist.

DELTA ZETA

I asked the damsels of the golden lamp to impart their wondrous works. They began . . .

Our goals, the promotion of good scholarship, encouragement of activities, furtherance of social activities and the attainment of a true friendship, have been realized. For superior scholarship, Delta Zeta took the first prize cup in the Panhellenic Scholarship competition.

No less proud are we of our two recently tapped Mortar Board members, Grace Bunker, our chapter president who was elected Mortar Board historian; and Sylvia Srnka, vice president of Delta Zeta and president of Big Sisters. Another DZ prominent on campus is Edith Harper, vice president of the junior class and Homecoming Committee chairman.

Our shining new trophies are adequate evidence of Delta Zeta's participation in campus activities, for we won first place in the CHERRY TREE subscription drive, third place in the Intersorority Sing, and first place in the May Carnival Booth contest.

A pledge formal at the Wardman Park Hotel climaxed a social season which included an open house in our newly decorated rooms, numerous exchange dances and informal picnics. At the end of exams, a week at Ocean City closed another school year.

ALPHA DELTA PI

They tell me that not a quiet moment has elapsed since the beginning of the year for the Alpha Delta Pi's. Honors have come and puissant knights have courted them. Sancho and I do not wonder, for they are maidens fair.

It was a long to be remembered day for the ADPi's as they watched President Millie McDowell walk down Lisner aisle to be crowned May Queen and President of Mortar Board. Other honoraries claimed the ADPi's including Tassels, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Who's Who. The group can also speak proudly of its achievements as a whole, for after six consecutive wins, a second Cherry Blossom Cup became a permanent possession, and shining beside it is a new cup signifying the winner of the Inter-sorority Bridge Tournament.

The Pledge Formal on November 26th at the Chantilly Room of the Hotel Hamilton and the initiation banquet at the Army-Navy Town Club highlighted the social year, but the ADPi's still found time for numerous exchanges and other gay social events. Fraternity and faculty open houses, a Christmas party for community children, and the 99th annual celebration of Founders Day rounded out a hectic but glorious school year.

KAPPA DELTA

A maiden of Kappa Delta said that they were recovering from a siege. I was about to don my helmet and repulse any last intruders when my informer stayed my hand for she had meant a siege of artisans. They had invaded with paint brush and drapery to leave the apartment much embellished.

Starting things off with a fraternity open house, carried out in a football motif complete with footballs, pennants, and chrysanthemums, the KDs went on to the Pledge Formal at the Lafayette Hotel, followed by a breakfast at Dede Thompson's house. The rest of the year, besides the usual exams, studying, and work, was dotted with many other social functions, such as the Mothers' and Fathers' teas, the Christmas party for underprivileged children, a Spring Formal with the KDs at Maryland and American University, and numerous buffet suppers at the rooms.

The KDs also found time to be active in all phases of campus life. Dede Thompson was Vice President of the Glee Club and President of W.R.A.; Florence Hager was Treasurer of Mortar Board, Vice President of the Religious Council, and Treasurer of the Future Teachers of America; and Norma Leary and Ginnye Perrott were tapped for Tassels.

PHI SIGMA SIGMA

A strange emblem dazzled my senses. The dark eyes of a fair damsel greeted mine. To my queries she replied that she was of the order of the Golden Sphinx. That year they had celebrated their twenty-fifth annum on campus with dancing at Brook Farm, Maryland; a party in their newly decorated rooms after the Goat Show; and a Silver Anniversary Tea to which everyone was invited.

Keeping busy throughout the year, the Phi Sigs joined forces with the Phi Alphas to present an original college revue, entitled "TIME OUT FOR FUN," at Lisner Auditorium in February. The sorority's share of the proceeds was donated to the University Hospital Rheumatic Fever Fund. Aside from open houses for fraternities, faculty, and Hillel, the members of the sorority enjoyed their annual "Rose Ball" with Phi Alpha in February.

Though busy with social affairs, the Phi Sigs managed to keep their fingers in the "activity pie." Besides winning two national Phi Sigma Sigma awards, members of the group were represented in every campus activity, Judy Kutz being outstanding as Vice President of Hillel and of Big Sisters. The coveted gold key presented annually to the outstanding member of the year went this year to Barbara Dobbis.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

At the very top of the strange edifice surmounted by gargoyles we met an order of ladies on whose armorial bearings shone the letters ZTA. Six new damsels had recently pledged themselves to this fifty-one year old order which has graced this campus for the last quarter century. Throughout the year they ventured forth to capture second place in the Homecoming Parade with their "Freeze 'em out" theme and to attend exchange dances, open houses and after-game parties.

Zeta has been extremely active in campus activities with Barbara Stone's selection for WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES and Betty Wilson's election to Tassels. They had presidents in Alpha Pi Epsilon (Ruth Seaquist), Wesley Foundation (Carol Beaver), and Panhellenic (Barbara Stone). They had a vice-presidential representation in Future Teachers of America (Dottie Sutherland).

The December Formal was held at Bendall's Alexandrian Room and lots of alumnae turned up for the Christmas party before the holidays. Plans for the second semester included the usual open houses and exchange dances plus a Faculty Tea and the annual Mother's Day Tea. After helping to build the May Day booth, the Zetas looked forward to a week of relaxation at the Rehoboth Beach party.

Beaver, Dunn, Fassett, Haran, Johnson, Knott, Maravelli, McKneely, McLaren, O'Reilly, Rupert, Seaquist, Shearer, Stevens, Stieg, Stillwell, Stone, Sutherland, Vance.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Passing over the moat and charging up the steps, I entered Sorority Hall to visit the damsels of KKG. I found them with their Golden Keys, adding garlands of social activities and scholastic achievements to their chamber. A damsel, looking up from her work, invited us to gaze upon her chronicle.

Our pledges worked frantically for weeks on their Goat Show skit, delving into many an anthology on the history and execution of Injun chorus lines . . . and were rewarded by war-dancing off with first prize. The pledge formal, held at the Indian Spring Country Club, was a highlight in our social season, with exchange dances and the fraternity open house increasing our growing store of happy times.

In addition to winning first prize in the Goat Show, we were named first in scholarship among the sororities during the past year. Anne Diffenderfer was crowned Homecoming Queen, having been sponsored by Sigma Chi. Tassels tapped our Betty Russell, Marilyn Sandwick, Patricia Boyer, Carolyn Hanby, Patricia Fenton, Anita Carpenter, and Beth Paul. The Cheerleading Squad included Betty Talley, Betty Russell, Mary Ellen Seleen, and Jeanne Young.

May 1950-51 be as gratifying in both studies and fun as we have found this school year.

Anderson, Beecher, Blair, Boesch, Bonham, Boyer, Carlson, Carpenter, Coates, Cole, Del Vechio, Gallagher, Grinnell, Hall, Hanby, Harveycutter, Hopton, Levy, Lilienkamp, Marsh, Mattingly, Moore, Paul, Penningroth, Payne, Richardson, Roberts, Seleen, A. Smith, M. Smith, Tomasick, Tally, Trimble, Walsh, Warren, West, Woodall, Worley, Young.

The ten little Indians in formal attire.

And the band played on and on and on . . .

DELTA GAMMA

We discerned a mighty ship of the nautical lasses of Delta Gamma. Sails were set for fun, surprises, and accomplishment. A squall hadn't interrupted Homecoming festivities and a calm had been dispersed by a surprise Hallowe'en Party given by the pledges for the actives. The pledge class was introduced at a formal dance at the Congressional Country Club in December. Ports of call included open houses, exchanges, pledge and active walk-outs, Panhellenic functions, a Christmas party, Founder's Day in March and a week of fun at Ocean City. Best of all, an anchor for each new member in February.

Working hard in an activities way were Lillian Johnstone, president of Staughton dorm council and pledge president, Jeanine Carlson and Jane Pyle, members of Delphi, Ginny Ford, elected to Who's Who and social editor for the HATCHET, Jane Pyle, winner of the W.R.A. women's singles tennis tournament and Peggy Caldwell and Ramona Rhodes, cheerleaders.

And so our ship came home to rest after an adventuresome voyage but ready to set sail again next fall for a bigger and better year.

Balshann, Bennett, Bruton, Caldwell, Carlson, Elms, Ford, Johnson, King, Lindsey, Mabry, Munson, Noonan, Oliver, Plaskett, Pyle, Rhoades.

Six sitting one out.

Retreat to the rooms between classes.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Here a castle loomed before me, a castle with a main turret in which abide the maidens of the azure kite. Within, the hall rang with parlance and discourse on their pledge-parents party, the pledge-active Christmas Party, the Pledge Formal held at the United Nations Club, an open house for all students, exchange dances with knights-errant and progressive banquets with Kappa Delta and Pi Beta Phi.

Serving in their respective capacities as Treasurer of Panhel and President of Junior Panhel are Anne Sheppard and Barbara Elam. In class elections, Anne Sheppard was voted Treasurer of the Junior Class, and Pat McNally was elected Vice President of the Sophomore Class.

Inter-sorority competition netted Theta first place for the winning Goat Show poster, second place in the bridge tournament, and third place in the Goat Show and volleyball contest.

One of the nicest events of the year was the selection of Margaret Fritche, a finalist in the CHERRY TREE Beauty Queen Contest, as Queen Guinevere for Washington and Lee University's 44th annual Fancy Dress Ball, held in February. Pat Wiggins also donned regal robes as the CHERRY TREE Queen for 1948-'49, while Sally Reifsnyder was elected to Mortar Board and Who's Who.

Barry, Benner, Broy, Cochran, Daugherty, Davenport, Edgar, Elam, Harrington, Head, Larrick, Law, Leach, Mason, Maury, E. McNally, P. McNally, Mitchell, Montieth, Moore, Primm, Reifsnyder, Sheppard, Thompson, Wiggins, Williams.

Honor guests at a most important occasion.

In Which Don Quixote Is Disenchanted . . .

Oh, faithful squire, from what glorious adventures we have just emerged. My enchanters though onerous at last did me a good turn, although would that they might not have released us from our thralldom before we learned all about the kingdom of George. The wonders of its sporting events and organizations must ever remain a sealed book which even the might of Don Quixote de la Mancha cannot disclose.
